

Teachers ask COL pay boost

PLEASANTON — Amador Valley High School District teachers Tuesday night said they are not seeking a salary increase, "but rather a cost of living adjustment to the salary schedule."

"We realize that times are indeed hard and the district has been on stronger grounds," commented Jim Eaton, president of the Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association. "But there are teachers in this district who face the loss of their homes if they cannot keep up with costs. Perhaps their homes will be purchased by the trash collectors across the Bay who earn more than this district's average teacher. If forced to live outside the valley, driving is almost as costly... 24 cents per mile. A teacher is likely to pay over $1,700 per year just to get to work."

The bulk of Eaton's presentation Tuesday, as formulated by the AVSEA Certificated Employees Council, dealt with meet and confer proposals.

One of the points raised by Eaton concerned the sabbatical leave policy of the district. Teachers want the policy amended to include the following: "No more than one and one-half per cent of the non-management certificated personnel of the district may be on sabbatical leave during any one school year."

Other technical changes included recommendation of applicants.

Under salary adjustment, teachers want their cost of living adjustment based on the statistics for the period of April 1974 through March 1975 as provided by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the San Francisco-Oakland area.

Other provisions asked by teachers include: 1) The anniversary step payments in column 6 be at years 14, 16, 18, 20 and 22. The increment shall be 4.5 per cent between each step. 2) Classes I and II of the district salary schedule shall be truncated so that they each have a maximum of six steps. Those currently in Class I or II shall be evaluated for compliance with the Education Code requirement that a certificated person with a preliminary credential shall complete a fifth year of education within five years of first employment of the individual. The increment between columns of the salary schedule shall be a constant 6.4 per cent. The increment between steps within each column shall be 4.6 per cent. 3) The district shall provide all employees with a fully paid term life insurance policy. This policy shall be the California Teachers Association "Plan 6" and shall include dependents. 4) There shall be a separate salary schedule for the Amador district effective July 1, 1975. 5) The present Staff Bill employee evaluation within the district shall be revised to include reciprocal evaluation of the participatory management by the teaching staff.

Presentation of the teacher salary and fringe benefits package signals the start of negotiations.

The administration is now required to make public a response within 30 days.

Maid contest now May 3

PLEASANTON — The Maid of Pleasanton Pageant will be held one month earlier than normal this year in the hopes of drawing crowds that will be in town May 3 for the second "Let The Good Times Roll" parade.

Chamber manager Chan Henderson said the pageant is presently set for the Fairgrounds Amphitheatre on Saturday, May 3 at 3 p.m. Young women residing in Pleasanton and Sunol are eligible to enter and applications may be picked up at the chamber office, 10 W. Neal St. Deadline for returning completed applications is April 3.

The pageant will coincide with the KNBB parade scheduled for the May date. The parade starts at 11 a.m. that day with a stage presentation at the Amphitheatre to follow. A community picnic is also planned at the Fairgrounds.

All the while, the Pleasanton Art League will be staging its annual Arts and Crafts Show outdoors at the Fairgrounds.

At a meeting Tuesday morning, it was decided to have the line of march turn onto Bernal Avenue and go into the Fairgrounds through Gate 4 to disperse. Consideration had been given to the parade turning onto Angela at an organizational meeting held at the Pleasanton Hotel last Thursday night.

A maximum of 225 entries will be taken for the parade and interested groups or individuals should contact KNBB at Grosvenor Plaza in San Francisco before the second week in April.

Young women living in Pleasanton and Sunol, or between the two communities, have until April 3 to enter the Maid pageant. To be eligible, they must not be less than 17 years old or more than 25 years of age by August 1, 1975. They must have been residents of the communities on or before Jan. 1, 1975, never married or mothers of any children, not have a police record or be permitted to wear a hair piece during the pageant.

Preliminary judging will be held April 5 at Pleasanton Gardens. Finalists then compete for the tiara currently worn by Teresa Alexander on May 3. The winner then takes part in the Maid of Alameda County Pageant at the outset of the Alameda County Fair in July. Maid representatives are also invited to take a chaperoned trip to Southern California before the pageant.

Marie and Fred Cochran will again assist the young women entered in the pageant. Denyse Christensen will also work with participants.

Bandits rob clerk at SR gas station

Three armed bandits held up a San Ramon gas station Saturday night, getting away with $70.

The trio walked into the Standard Oil station at 21320 San Ramon Blvd. and asked attendant Gary E. Hawk of San Ramon if they could use the rest rooms.

After using the facilities, sheriff's deputies said, one of the three asked for change and then followed Hawk to the cash box.

Subdivision turndown may bring suit from Dr. Long PLEASANTON — Dr. Howard Long is expected to file suit against the City of Pleasanton next week following the city council's denial of plans for his hillside subdivision.

Monday night, the council upheld the planning commission's denial of Long's tentative tract map for the final 10 lots in the Longview area.

Their decision was based on the advice of City Attorney Ken Scheidig who said the project design "does not comply with the provisions of the city's ordinance code" and development could cause "substantial environmental damage."

Long and the city have had a less than amicable relationship regarding Longview in the nearly 10 years it has been in the planning and development stages.

Monday night was the latest round in that continuing dispute over the subdivision and, according to Long's attorney, Gilbert Maines, will most surely wind up in court.

Scheidig told the council they were within their legal rights in refusing to accept the tentative tract map because several of the proposed lots do not have the required street frontage and because the environmental impact report prepared for the project does not contain a conservation element. Without a completed EIR, Scheidig claimed, the city could not know what kinds of "mitigation efforts" might be made to counter-act that "substantial environmental damage."

Under the provisions of the state Subdivision Map Act, the project would be automatically approved 50 days from its submission if the council did not act to deny it. Scheidig said he had asked Long for a waiver of the 50-day requirement, in order to allow time for completion of the EIR, and that request had been denied.

Maines contended the project does not even require an EIR because of a "grandfather clause" in the Administrative Code, which states projects underway prior to April 5, 1973 are exempt.

"Two tentative maps for this project have previously been approved by councils of this city," Maines added, "and that qualifies it under the grandfather clause."

Maines also contended his client had been told the fact that some of the lots did not have the required street frontage would be no problem because variances could be granted. "This is what has been called a 'gotcha'," Maines said.

The basic question, Maines told the council, is "Is this city going to honor the commitments of prior councils and allow completion of this project or is it going to be dumped?"

Councilman Bill Herlihy noted, "Historically, this project has had a great deal of problems." He added he would like to see it completed but said he had been "frightened" by the fact the EIR did not support the project.

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire added she had a "great fear of the environmental impacts of this development" particularly, related to the seismic hazards.

The council voted 4-0 to deny Long's appeal. Following the meeting, Maines said a suit would likely be filed in Alameda County Superior Court next week.

Ired citizens get zone delay

PLEASANTON — A dozen Pleasanton Heights residents were prepared to argue their case with vehemence Monday night but their case and their vehemence disappeared when the city council agreed to delay zoning of 17 acres in the area until a hillside ordinance is developed.

The 17 acres is bounded by Angela Street, Mirador Drive, Pico Avenue (Minnie Street) and the eastern city limits. Because of an oversight, the property was never zoned when it was annexed in 1971.

At its February meeting, the planning commission had recommended zoning the parcel for single family development with 6,500 square foot minimum lots despite the objections of neighboring residents who wanted to see a larger minimum lot size.

City Manager Bill Edgar explained to the council Monday that, since no plan is currently being proposed for the area and since City Attorney Ken Scheidig is in the process of preparing an ordinance to cover hillside developments, the staff recommended the planning commission's recommendation be denied.

"We are going to change our minds," Edgar said, rather than push for the 6,500 square foot lot size over the objections of the neighbors.

The hillside ordinance, which is expected to be completed and adopted by May, will then be used as a guideline to design any proposal that is submitted.

Trent Pridmore, acting as a spokesman for the dozen or so Pleasanton Heights residents, said they believed the 6,500 designation was "inappropriate" for the area since most of the neighboring lots are between 8,000 and 10,000 square feet.

Planning Director Bob Harris had earlier explained even if the 6,500 square foot zoning were applied, the lots would most likely be larger anyway because of the slope of the property.

Councilman Bill Herlihy agreed with Edgar's new recommendation and added he would like to have the planning commission explore the possibility of zoning the land agricultural because "it would lower the owner's property taxes" and would not give him false hopes of sewer connections. Councilman Bob Philcox agreed that was an "interesting proposal" and added he would like to hear from the property owner.

The council voted unanimously to deny the planning commission's recommendation and accept Edgar's proposal.

Partial peace achieved in Zone 7 meter row

PLEASANTON — The city council achieved at least a partial truce with Zone 7 on the water connection fee issue by the simple action of amending its own ordinances Monday night.

The dispute has been on-going for more than two years and was caused by the fact that Zone 7 bases its water connection fee on meter size and the City of Pleasanton uses a larger meter size than do the communities of Dublin and Livermore. Because of that, residents in Pleasanton have been paying a higher connection fee than other valley residents.

Monday night, the council amended its ordinance dealing with water connection fee so that a single family home will be charged a standard rate for connection. That rate will coincide with Zone 7's charges for the smaller meter.

As Assistant City Manager Al Campbell explained it, "Like uses should pay like fees." The fee schedule was thus amended to state "there is a fixed fee for single family homes regardless of meter size."

Councilman Bob Philcox summed up the council's reaction, when he said, "This was so simple, I wonder why we didn't do it long ago."

That action, however, does not settle the issue of whether the Pleasantonites who have paid the larger fee are entitled to a refund. Those "overcharges" amount to nearly $200,000, according to the city. City Attorney Ken Scheidig said litigation to recover the "excess" fees is still a possibility.

In other action, the council: — Denied an appeal of Pettibone Signs for Valley Realty from an adverse decision of the Board of Adjustments which denied a variance for a free-standing sign at the Valley Plaza Shopping Center;

— Approved an application for a holding tank for Earl Adams Tile & Coping Co. at 3675 Santa Rita Rd.;

— Approved an application from John Cerruti for a holding tank on a 1.8 acre parcel on Foothill Road by a 3-1 vote with

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire in opposition;

— Approved an agreement with consultant Harvey Banks to oversee future sewer negotiations involving the city; and — Approved an ordinance amendment which allows (plant) nurseries as a conditional use in the Industrial Park zoning district.

Assemblyman Mori names Jelks chief assistant

PLEASANTON — Assemblyman - Elect. Floyd Mori named his campaign coordinator, Alton Jelks, as his chief administrative assistant on Tuesday.

Mori, who will be sworn into the State Legislature as assemblyman from the 15th District on Thursday, will have two district offices, Jelks said, one in Pleasanton and one in Hayward.

Jelks, 30, is a native of Oakland. He is currently living in Oakland but will be moving to the Hayward area. Jelks has a degree in history from California State University, Hayward and has credentials for both elementary and secondary level teaching.

He worked in Governor Edmund Brown's campaign and became associated with the Mori campaign in late November. He handled many of the day-to-day details for Mori during both the primary and special election campaigns.

Search being conducted in San Ramon Valley

A search is being conducted in San Ramon Valley for the dog that bit a boy Sunday.

Robert Grove, 11, of San Ramon was bitten by a 50 to 60 pound dog while retrieving a baseball Sunday afternoon.

The dog was described as a German Shepherd type, with a black and brown coloration. The dog was said to have a lame rear leg and walks with a limp.

It had no tags or collar and was reported to be ill-kept.

Anyone seeing or knowing of the dog should call Contra Costa County Animal Control at 228-3000.

If found, the dog will be quarantined for 10 days to check for rabies.

Homeowners turn thumbs down on 'tempting swap'

SAN RAMON — Calling the proposed land swap between Valley Community Services District (VCS) and the San Ramon Valley Unified School District a "tempting move," the San Ramon Homeowners Association nevertheless recommended VCS revert to a previous purchase plan and abandon the trade.

In letters filed with both the VCS board of directors and the board of trustees of the school district, the association alleges the proposed swap is not "in the best interests of the VCS, the community, or the School District," and goes on to argue for recommended outright purchases by both agencies.

The imbroglio stems from a proposed joint development of an intermediate school site and neighborhood park near Pine Valley Road. Under this proposal, the school district would sell its 22-acre site on Broadmoor Drive adjacent to VCS, utilizing the money to purchase as much land as possible adjacent to its Boone West school site at Pine Valley Road.

According to association President Mike Wahlig, the school district would have to give VCS use of at least four acres of the acquired land for development as a neighborhood park. In turn the district has requested VCS develop not only the four-acre site, but also whatever land is left to the district from the purchase in a way that is compatible with joint VCS - school use.

Sale of the 22-acre site on Broadmoor Drive will net the school district "sufficient funds to purchase about six acres of land from the Seeno Construction Company adjacent to the Boone West School site," according to the letter, and if VCS insists on use of four of those acres for its neighborhood park, the district nets only two acres of school land in trade for its 22-acre site. "This hardly seems worthwhile for the School District," contends Wahlig.

Proposals that VCS develop the acreage such that both agencies may jointly use the land are specious, according to Wahlig, since the uses are "incompatible."

VCS wants "neighborhood-type park where mothers could bring their young children during the day," the association argues, while the district needs playing fields for intermediate school students.

The location of the four acre site is "far from ideal," the letter continues, in that access is limited to Westwood Avenue, a narrow residential street. "This secluded park location is likely to lead to the same type of problems as have been experienced at Mape Park in the past," according to Wahlig.

The association recommends that VCS revert to a previous plan to purchase and develop a five acre site on the east side of Davona Drive on the Seeno property, thus "providing the community with a VCS neighborhood park in a central location and with excellent access along Davona Drive."

The district, according to Wahlig, should sell its 22-acre Broadmoor parcel to a third party, using the funds to purchase as much land as possible adjacent to the Boone West site.

The Seeno land has been appraised at $5,000 and $6,000 per lot, and the firm is asking about $9,000 per lot. Acquiring the lots by court condemnation will probably limit the district to acquisition of six acres adjacent to its present 11-acres at the Boone West site. Funds for the purchase would come from the sale of the 22-acre parcel to a third party.

The school district "must act quickly before the Seeno land is developed," the letter says, and this "requires a prompt decision by both VCS and the School Board."

VCS EXPANSION

The association also decided at last Thursday's meeting to reply to Pleasanton's letter to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The association started a stew earlier in the year by filing letters with the EPA, Congressman Fortney "Pete" Stark, and California Senators Alan Cranston and John Tunney, requesting the EPA deny VCS's court-ordered expansion of sewer treatment facilities from 6 million gallons per day to 8 mgd.

Pleasanton replied in February with arguments to the agency and the three solons defending its position on the requested expansion.

BARRIERS

In other action, the association decided to extend a street barrier on the Ashby Highway to prevent cars from using the path between Pine Valley Road and Cheyenne Avenue.

According to Wahlig, cars have been going around the barriers and on to the side walk to use the path, and pedestrians on the pathway almost have been hit.

Grand Jury report turns out based on wrong figures

An Alameda Grand Jury report on inadequate immunization in four school districts — including the Livermore Unified School District — may well prove to be more out of date than important, if figures supplied by the LUSD are any guide.

The report was made yesterday to the Board of Supervisors in their regular meeting in Oakland and indicated that many school children throughout the county were not up to date on immunizations against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, polio, measles, rubella and mumps.

One figure cited was that only 42 per cent of the entering kindergartners in the LUSD were completely immunized, and similar figures were given for Newark, San Leandro and Oakland.

However, according to LUSD Coordinator of School Nurses Geraldine Deck, those numbers were taken from a survey given on the first two days of school, and thus measured how well parents in the county were immunizing their children, not how well the schools were doing.

Schools cannot enroll students who are not properly immunized, unless the parents sign a statement that it is against their beliefs. However, most districts will allow a student to stay in school for two or three weeks until he can be immunized.

So the 42 per cent immunization figure that the Grand Jury was so upset about was really not an accurate measurement. In fact, according to Deck, 99 per cent of LUSD students are immunized against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough; 97 per cent are up to date on polio shots; 98 per cent have received measles protection; 85 per cent have received rubella immunizations and 48 per cent have received mumps shots.

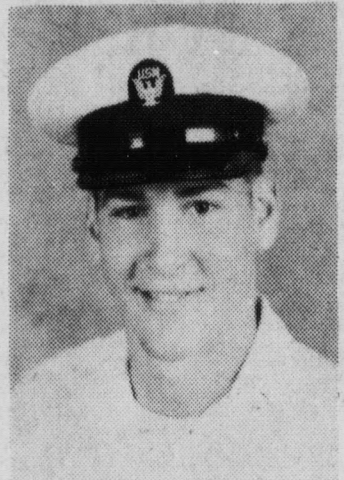

However, the last two shots are not required by state law and consequently the LUSD has not pressured students to get those immunizations.

The Grand Jury asked that the supervisors request a complete report from the County Health Officer on the status of immunizations throughout the district; appropriate additional funding as necessary; and add school representatives to the County Advisory Board for Child Health.

In light of the figures from the LUSD now as compared with early in the year, Deck feels the supervisors shouldn't be too worried. She also warned that they had "better not buy all those shots because the kids don't need them."

Another reason for the low figures on some of the early reports is that the state requires only two polio shots but recommends three. The LUSD thus was counting all those with only two shots as not completely immunized, even though by law they were taken care of; now, however, those students with two have been logged as immunized and the percentage has taken a corresponding jump.

MESD Valley Trails school site doubtful

"It looks like we're going to have to give that site up" said Dr. Donald Williams, Superintendent of the Murray Elementary School District, as he pondered the fate of the 10 acres that were originally set aside in Valley Trails for a school.

MESD, along with many others in the Valley, had anticipated a substantial growth in population in the Valley and thus set aside those 10 acres for future development of a school. However, the number of students in the district now won't allow the state to fund a new school building and the district, which is far from rich, can't afford to build a school all by itself.

John Griffin of Morrison Homes officially requested at Monday night's board meeting that the district return the 10 acres to the developer so that more homes might be built there.

Apparently, the district has little choice, regardless of the outcome of a meeting this coming Monday night at Dublin School. The board of trustees has invited all interested parents to give their input on the school site and its disposal but in the end it is highly likely that the district will have to turn it over.

The only real alternative is for the district to purchase that land at going market prices — which would be well in excess of $100,000. If the board doesn't want to make that purchase and also doesn't want to give up their rights to the land (they've never actually owned it), Morrison Homes will undoubtedly sue the district and force them to purchase the land.

Williams indicates that an influx of nearly 500 students would be necessary to get state funding to build a new school and he doesn't see that happening in the near future.

There are other sites available, but it appears that Valley Trails will not get the school that was originally planned in that development.

Many of the other items were continued until next Monday's meeting for a variety of reasons but the board did unanimously approve a resolution condemning the collective bargaining proposal now in the state legislature.

Gail Haney, the president of the Murray Educators' Association spoke out in favor of the collective bargaining law but the board apparently was not impressed. The teachers also presented the second half of their salary proposals to the district Monday night and the Murray Professional Educators' Group added their proposal to the stack of paper facing the board and its negotiators.

Next Monday's meeting follows directly on the heels of the last one due to the election on March 4. The board pushed the meeting scheduled for March 3 forward one week but allowed the March 17 date to stand.

Getting in tune

Sometimes a music teacher really sweats. Here, Bernie Berke of the Livermore Unified School District leads the East Avenue Area Intermediate Band in preparation for two public performances tomorrow, "Music In Our Schools Day." For more on that event, see inside.

Music In Our Schools Day is here

Schools will echo to sound of music

LIVERMORE — The schools will be alive with the sound of music tomorrow, as everyone bursts into song on "Music In Our Schools Day."

Although school music programs aren't being promoted during a whole month, like scouts, or even for a week, like vocational education, the Livermore Unified School District is making the most of the occasion with musical performances scheduled throughout the district. The young performers are hoping everyone in the neighborhood will come, for what's a performance without an audience? And especially an audience of strangers! Residents are urged to check with their local schools to find out when they can visit to observe music in action. Some city-wide musical events scheduled for Thursday and for the coming week:

Largest groups are about 16 or 18 performers. Teachers may help contestants choose suitable music, but the final choice is with the student. Judges are music teachers from the area but outside the school district. Students pay a nominal entry fee to pay for the services of judges and awards.

Each student receives a certificate, while all "command performers" with top ratings receive a framed certificate. SUNDAY: At the Chabot College auditorium, Hayward, a band concert will feature the Chabot College Band, directed by E. Charnow; the Livermore High Band under Michael Ward, and the Rancho Arroyo Junior High Band directed by J. Ingram.

The performance is free, at 3 p.m. TUESDAY (March 18): The Livermore High School music department will present "A German Requiem" by Johannes Brahms. It will be a combined effort of the A Capella Choir, mixed chorus, honor band and string orchestra. Two soloists will be featured: Nico Snel, baritone, and Madeline Fudim, soprano.

The Requiem, written in German, will be presented in English. It includes seven movements, a complicated and difficult work not usually attempted by high-school students. The music departments have been concentrating their efforts on the work for the past four

Benecia business manager will replace Thompson

PLEASANTON — Virginia Gorski, currently business manager of the Fremont Unified School District, was named Tuesday night to replace Robin Thompson as director of fiscal services for the Amador-Pleasanton School District.

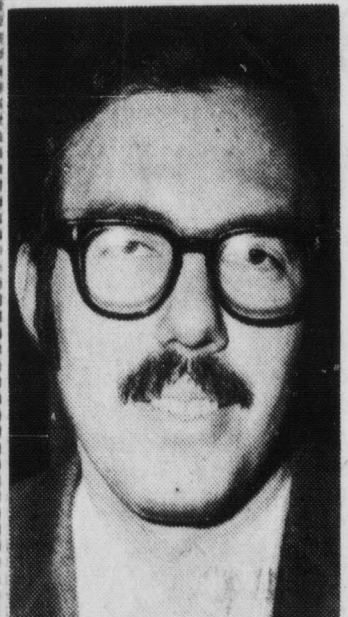

Mrs. Gorski, 36, was recommended to the Amador Valley Joint High School District board after eight candidates had been interviewed. She has been with the Benecia district for two years. She is married and has two children.

Prior to her position in Benecia, she was supervisor of accounts for the Fremont Unified School District. Doug Rose, director of business services for the district, who the new fiscal analyst will report to, said Thompson's replacement hopefully will be on deck by the first of next week.

Thompson has been with the district for seven years. He will be taking the position of business manager and comptroller with the Chico Unified School District, a district about the same size as the Amador-Pleasanton districts and having an average daily attendance of 9,800.

The position he had held is charged with the arduous task of figuring where monies are coming from and what departments need them... and in what amounts.

A no-host cocktail party is scheduled in Thompson's honor today from 4 to 6 p.m. at Hap's Restaurant.

County to get PIO despite protests

Alameda County will apparently get its Public Information Officer (PIO) in 1976, despite the objections of two members of the Board of Supervisors.

The move came yesterday at the supervisors' weekly meeting in Oakland as Supervisors John Murphy, Joseph Bort and Fred Cooper voted for establishment of the $22,000 per year position.

The money for the post will have to be officially included in the budget before the move is final but unless one of the above three supervisors changes his mind, the PIO will become a reality.

Bicentennial

The spirit of the bicentennial is spreading across the county and across the state in the spring of '75, as local and regional groups step up their own plans for marking the nation's 200th birthday.

Two "bicentennial workshops" are planned within the county — at College of Alameda on April 18 from 2 until 9 p.m., and at Chabot College in Hayward on April 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Members of community bicentennial panels are urged to attend either or both of these seminars.

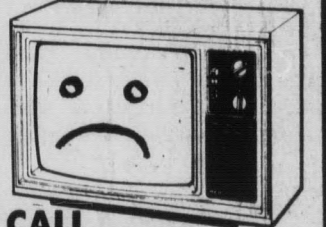

A California Bicentennial Workshop set for Fresno on May 30 through June 1 will attract a large delegation from Alameda County. The round trip bus fare at $15 and the workshop fee, also $15, must be paid by April 15 to: Kathie Mitchell, secretary, Alameda County Bicentennial Commission, P.O. Box 2001, Dublin, 94566.

The county panel has scheduled its next session for March 19, 4 p.m. at the Public Works Agency Building, Room 227 in Hayward.

At its February meeting, the county commission gave its endorsement to a long list of community functions, including two historical publications being advanced by the Livermore Heritage Guild, and the restoration of May School as being proposed by the Livermore Bicentennial Organization.

The students of Joe Kettwig, Marilyn Michell, Ken Huedepohl and Nancy Sudekum came to school dressed in Olde Spanish style, displayed their projects, such as the map of California missions held by Kettwig (above). Others were presented by Neil Ellison and Sandy Baptista (below). Students capped the day with a tremendous fiesta lunch, prepared in part by parents of the children. Mrs. Gail Story brought a jello salad for the classes (bottom). (Times Photos by Al Fischer)

LARPD directors face lawsuit over girls' rodeo

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Area Recreation and Park District board of directors will be confronting some pressing matters, including a lawsuit over the rodeo stadium, when they meet tonight.

The public meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the LARPD administration building, 71 Trevano Road (off North First Street.)

The lawsuit was filed by the Rodeo Association after LARPD turned down their request for use of the stadium in August. The Rec District administration's reasoning was that a rodeo tears up the turf and makes the stadium unusable for several months, and since the big Robertson Park facility is supposed to be for school sports as well as horses, rodeos should be limited to June.

The Rodeo association wanted to stage an all-girls' rodeo. It would have been the second such event in the state.

Also on the agenda is review of LARPD's predicament with LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission), a county body thinking of trimming back the Rec District's boundaries to the city limits, thereby cutting back on the district's revenues. Discussion on the proposed changes is expected to come up at the next LAFCO meeting this month.

Directors will also discuss the Arroyo Del Valle Sanitarium, the sprawling complex of buildings abandoned for some 20 years and about to be sold.

Where do all the charity dollars go?

The revelations by a small group of Nebraska newspapers relative to the millions of dollars being accumulated by Father Flanagan's Boys Town might seem far removed from any parallel in this valley. But only if we fail to heed the warning sounded in Omaha.

Perhaps you are already aware of the "Boys Town Expose." Without attempting to pass judgement on that famed home for homeless boys (as indeed the Omaha newspapers did not either) still it shocked the nation to be suddenly faced with evidence of tens of millions of dollars held in reserve at a time when that beguiling appeal was still tugging at America's heart, using the picture of one ragged youngster carrying a smaller companion on his back, and bolstered by that most poignant of phrases: "He ain't heavy, father... he's my brother." The message of self-sacrifice is clear, and the annual response upwards of $10 million was apt tribute to the organization which made it all happen.

There are many such appeals. Hardly a week goes by that we are not asked to respond to the needs of cancer or heart research, to buy circus tickets in the name of some mythical "Deputy Sheriff's Charity," or support a hundred other agencies banded together under "The United Bay Area Crusade." It is rare that any of us asks for an audited report on how our money is to be spent, some proof that the appeal is justified, or some promise that the stated need might someday be fulfilled.

When the "March of Dimes" was able to announce, a few years back, that its march on polio had indeed helped bring that particular disease almost to an end, there was an opportunity to tell America — "Thank you for making this triumph possible. The March of Dimes will now close its books on a job well done." But no, the tremendous organization that had gone into raising those millions was simply flopped over onto "new children's diseases," and the march for dimes and dollars goes on.

There has been evidence that some of these appeals have "administrative expenses" equal to 50 percent of their total revenue, and even more. What is even more shocking is the reluctance by some "well known charities" to submit to thorough, outside audit. We can only guess at their expenses, and keep giving "in good faith."

Sometimes the overhead factor is part of a conspiracy to which the public is a willing participant. The recent disclosure that local chapters of the Girl Scouts of America are able to retain just five cents from each box of that $1.25 or $1.40 offering of cookies and - or mints, brought little apparent public outcry. The fact that many people who never eat sweets of any kind shell out $1.25 in order to give the local troop five cents, is seen as no particular injustice.

This newspaper was one of the early supporters of United Bay Area Crusade simply because we saw therein an opportunity to eliminate a great many small appeals by combining for "the one big give." It also promised to reduce collection costs, and hopefully, channel more of the donated dollar into the areas of actual need. This week UBAC out with its annual report, a document of very little substance, bound up in two handsome books, much of which was given over to very attractive but meaningless photographs of the Bay Area. It was a costly way of presenting the UBAC team in just the right light, from a Madison Avenue viewpoint. It seems to put UBAC right up there with the March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, Boys Town and all those other big wheelers. And that could be the beginning of the end for one more charity venture that simply got lost in its own image-building.

and would be happy to sell you a few dozen.

The shiner Bruce Newlin was sporting last week came as the result of a sports match... or so we're told. Seems Bruce was engaged in a friendly (?) game of handball with Amador - Pleasanton school district aides Neil Sweeney and Carl Krause when Neil let one rip that hit the new superintendent right in the orb.

Maybe that explains why Neil has been out in the field recently and rarely around the district offices.

Letters to the Editor

Equal time

Editor, The Times:

Appreciate being given "equal time" to discuss the quality of buses which will be used on bus extension service now being operated by AC Transit under contract with BART (round the town, February 21).

Some of the information is correct concerning defects on the 120 standard buses ordered by AC Transit last year after the Flexible (that's the correct spelling) Company was low bidder on specifications.

We publicized this widely in December, reporting the defects; that maintenance costs to AC Transit for each of the buses "is out of this world; that they break down more than GMC buses; that they are harder to fix or drive, or that there is a lack of public interest in AC Transit. We are widely covered by the media in the communities within our boundaries and hope to keep the public fully informed in areas outside of our boundaries as well.

This is the situation: Under federal regulations involving capital grants, AC Transit (and any other transit property) must go out to bid for any items about $2,500 ($3,000 under California state law).

When Flexible turned up as low bidder on an order for 120 standard buses last Spring and we knew our coaches would be the first off a new assembly line, we sent our maintenance experts to the new plant to watch the entire production process.

We found problems with all of the first buses off the line and refused to accept delivery until changes were made, at the expense of the manufacturer.

After the changes were made and buses delivered, we inspected them thoroughly again and found additional defects, including water leaks.

Again, we declined to accept the buses, until repairs were made. These repairs have been accomplished by AC Transit maintenance workers, along with the Flexible maintenance crew, again at the expense of Flexible Company.

There still are some items to be fixed, like installation of noise deadening material in the engine compartment, but nothing involving safe operation or road failure. Once the "bugs" are out, and you can expect "bugs" from any manufacturer, there is no difference between GMC and Flexible coaches as to on - going maintenance, in our opinion.

AC Transit is and will be reimbursed for all of this work and there is no added expense to the taxpayer.

One hundred, eleven buses now have been cleared and are operating in revenue service, with the remaining nine scheduled to be in service by mid - March.

The Flexible Company is a 62 - year - old firm that has been in the production of highway buses since 1924 and urban transit buses, since 1953. Their manufacture about 20 per cent of the buses now used across the country and will be delivering another 2,000 buses to various properties this year. Flexible buses now are in operation in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Miami, Atlanta, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Seattle and Portland, as well as in the East Bay.

The Flexible Company has been a division of Rohr Industries, builder of the BART cars, since 1970. We feel their problems with our buses were due essentially to a new assembly line and new workers.

However, AC Transit has no intention of putting equipment on the road that is trouble-plagued or contains defects.

Therefore, we took unusual steps to assure quality of buses ordered a year ago. And we'll take the same steps with the suburban type buses planned for the bus extension service, although they will be coming off the line at the old plant.

These buses will have recliner seats, extra leg space, carpeting and climate control, requested by BART to match the physical comfort of BART trains.

Like The Times, AC Transit has won many awards. In the District's case, it has been for maintenance excellence. We invite any of your people to visit our maintenance facilities and look over the fleet.

Crash course

The crash course in economics that the American consumer has received during the past two years has shown to everyone who has been paying attention that our lives are inextricably linked to what happens in the market place.

The environmental extremists have learned that they cannot recklessly stop the world while we all pick - up soda cans on the freeway. We hope these lessons have penetrated the hard - heads of the super - educated intellectuals and that they will have realized that we are all tied together into a complicated system of interconnecting economic interactions.

Unfortunately, most of the damage caused to our economy by these short - sighted, narrow - minded do - gooders will not be easily corrected. We have gone too far with the simplistic approach of letting government regulate every detail of our lives. We must begin a return to the free market place where supply and demand once again determine the policy to which our economic livelihood is based.

We can clean - up our environment and keep the country prosperous all at the same time. All we need to do is put some good, old - fashioned incentives back into the system.

Round the town

Hard times for the judges. The press is after 'em. Expose their every judicial fault. Even some that aren't very judicious. The last of society's truly sacrosanct roles has been violated. The court cloister is being invaded.

And for the most trivial reasons, we must all agree. The lady jurist down south was given to laying low an overly - ambitious young attorney with her sharp tongue. (Is there one of you who has not encountered an ambitious young attorney who needs to be laid low?) Ms. Judge was also apt to carry a pistol. Tucked 'neath her garter. Ideal for fast draw in a fast - moving Southern Cal court drama.

Some journalist blew the whistle. Young attorneys everywhere banded together. "The pistol - packin' lady jurist must go!" They have taken their case to the high court. The people who must serve on those tiresome juries and listen to young attorneys make very long speeches, should do some campaigning of their own. We're for the lady judge. Court procedures need speeding up, even if it takes a pistol under the garter to stress the point.

From San Mateo to Hayward the campaign goes on. Reporters revealing the frailties of the bench. "The judge is apt to doze off during the trial." Can't say I blame him. Most of it is pretty tiresome stuff. Maybe if they charged the prosecuting and defending lawyers by the hour, for use of expensive public facilities, things would move along. Judges would behave. Newspapers would have to find somebody else to hammer. Like maybe dull newspapers. Now THERE'S a campaign for you!

The judiciary is also getting a bum rap from the right. The law - n - order folks. They are well organized. A campaign to search out the soft judges, and expose them to public view. In Alameda County they even have their own newspaper. "CLO NEWS" — stands for "Citizens for Law and Order," as if you hadn't guessed.

The March edition offers us the results of their "Soft Hearted Judge of the Month Contest." Some tough competition for top honors, let me assure you. Criminal Court Judge Bruce Wright in New York is a leading contender among the softies. The CLO people call him "Turn 'Em Loose Bruce."

Miami Circuit Court has an entry in Judge Thomas Lee. He is known as (are you ready?) — "Set 'Em Free Lee." The leading contender from Alameda County is a muni court judge who is charged with releasing a defendant after the man was charged on two counts of armed robbery, one count of kidnapping, resisting arrest with the help of a straight - edged razor. Judge Winton McKibben saw mercy in these misdeeds, released the man on $2000 bail. The good judge has thereby earned the COL appendage of "Turn 'Em Back Mac."

Fortunately, this valley has always been blessed with a nice mixture of tough justice, well sprinkled with humor. Much of the latter may have left the scene when Judge Joe Schenone hung 'em up. He was the only jurist on record who could sentence a man to 30 days, and have the poor devil laughing all the way to the slammer. "Tell us one mo' Joe," the guy would plead as he was being led off. And thus did Judge Joseph earn his particular appellation. Not even the CLO people could complain about the Livermore jurist. Joe left 'em all laughing.

Judge John A. Lewis succeeded to the Livermore Muni Bench. He's a pretty good law and order type. Even if a trifle careful. "Never Wrong John," might be suitable. Hardly a title to earn COL's softie award.

Judge William Gale, Jr. is another jurist who earns no love from the liberals. Scares the hell out of the whole court before ever the proceedings can begin. "Let 'Em Walk Gale." No softie, he.

Uncle Charlie Gale was cut from similar stuff. He ran a strict court, although always willing to bend with the times. And it was a time for prohibition, or the repeal thereof. A good man might still carry a good gun. The last reminder of Pleasanton's more vibrant era. They called them "Justices of the Peace." Truth is, they were mighty quick with the justice, and rather short on peace. But they knew their town, and the people in it. Sentencing was usually tempered with a knowledge of the man's poor family, his long suffering wife, the hungry kids. "Thirty dollars! — but you can work off the entire sentence at the Colombo saloon — and if you get drunk, I'll throw you in the pokie and throw away the key!" Justice was speedy, direct, inexpensive. No long - winded attorneys. No costly appeals. Not even a jail worth talking about.

The Town Board of Trustees didn't like long stays in the local pokie. Cost too much to feed 'em. Better to make the scoundrels work out their punishment pulling weeds. For four weeks following the Annual Fireman's Ball there would be an army of weed - pullers in evidence, up and down the streets. Also a great cure for the hangover.

Judge Charlie Gale could be outgunned by no man. But there was this woman. Marie LePleaux. She owned a little property down around Sunol. In the path of the new freeway. The family always figured the State of California did them out of their land, without fair compensation. Marie got a mite disturbed over the whole business. Somehow blamed Judge Gale for her plight. She was apt to climb aboard her buggy, dressed in black — hat, gloves, veil, the works. She was also known to pack a pistol, on special occasions. Pull up alongside the Neal Street offices of the Justice of the Peace and make her presence known.

"Charlie Gale, you sonofabitch, get our here. I want to talk to you!" And Judge Charlie always obliged, if only to keep the peace, and to keep Marie from shooting the eyes out of the township's JP. "Willing To Parley Charlie." But only when he had no choice.

Hindsight/Foresight

Pleasanton trustees eye student moves

The Pleasanton Elementary School board plans a work session a week hence in which the subject of district boundaries will be the prime matter under discussion.

At stake is where an undetermined (as yet) number of students will be moved. At present, the district administration is attempting to develop "an educational rationale to coincide with any geographical reason for this movement."

The debating will not only include the enrollment factors but the maximum capacities of the schools and the current location of portables. Toss into the hopper the transportation question and the problem becomes quite complex.

Several things are already known. Housing north of the Arroyo del Valle is overcrowded and the area south of the Arroyo has space available... in terms of student capacity.

In deciding where the moves will have to be made, the board and administration, relying heavily on the projections of Dr. David Carlisle, director of research and development, are keeping four objectives in mind. They include, 1) Developing a long-range plan for housing students, 2) Keeping the neighborhood school concept intact, 3) Starting all classes at a reasonable time (Prior to 9:15 a.m.), and 4) Provide that any change in the organizational structure of a school will insure continuity of program.

With the aforementioned in mind, lets take a look at current enrollments (As of Feb. 28) and compare them with current and maximum capacities as listed by Carlisle after consulting with the various school principals.

Present enrollments are 1,151, Harvest Park; 1,097, Pleasanton Elementary; 899, Walnut Grove; 682, Alisal; 659, Fairlands; 615, Valley View; 183, Vintage Hills.

Now the current capacities, as determined by the principals; 1,149, Harvest Park; 1,100, Pleasanton Elementary; 899, Walnut Grove; 689, Alisal; 661, Fairlands; 611, Valley View; 182, Vintage Hills.

The figures indicate all Pleasanton schools are now at or slightly over capacity.

However, when "ideal" capacities are compared, it shows Harvest Park as being 151 over and Alisal, Fairlands and Walnut Grove as being right on the figures. Valley View and Vintage Hills are 45 and 27 under the "ideal" capacities.

When maximum capacity figures are placed next to current enrollment totals, it shows all schools as being well under maximum capacity.

So the question to ask is whether we want to maintain the status quo... not make any moves... or consider moving some students or grades to less crowded facilities. There is also the option of moving portables.

Carlisle predicts, after extensive studies, that the district will have 275 more students by the spring of 1976. The greatest growth is expected in the Del Prado West area where Carlisle believes there'll be 46 more K-5 pupils and 21 more 6-8 grade youngsters. He foresees 39 additional in the Pleasanton Meadows area and the same number in Pleasanton Valley. Approximately two-thirds of the new students will be in K-5.

It is apparent the load is going to fall on Harvest Park and Walnut Grove, primarily, and Alisal to a lesser extent.

Carlisle has presented the board with six solutions to the problem, ranging from maintaining the status quo to having all Del Prado 5th graders attend Pleasanton Elementary School.

No recommendations or time line for implementation have been decided upon but the March 19 meet at the District Educational Center will go a long way toward resolving the question.

With this in mind, we would recommend that all parents with children in Pleasanton Elementary schools at least consider making their feelings known to a school board member, principal or district administrator.

The district is just not going to have the monies available to build additions (for more students), move portables all over the district or get involved in a new and possibly more complicated routine of busing.

"It says: 'Please pay this bill, so that I can pay mine. DON'T BREAK THE CHAIN!'"

Africa, AAU both puzzling Kissin

Somehow the mystery, the remote north African ambience, hasn't yet registered. Where is Rabat? How many time zones away? What is it like to run in a hippodrome? Where is the airline ticket, anyway?

Maybe it's with Bogey at the Cafe Americain in Casablanca, along with the letters of transit Peter Lorre was carrying when he was cut down by deputies of Claude Rains, while trying to evade the repressive Occupation Forces, someone suggests.

But that was a different script. Actually, the airline ticket, the itinerary and a xeroxed letter from the local AAU official are in the mailbox. In Danville. Roy Kissin can't believe it.

Since December, when he ran third at the National Junior Cross-Country Championships — 8,000 meters and four barriers on the flat, desolate sands of Alameda's Bay Fill district — Kissin has been anticipating his reward for the effort: a trip to Rabat, Morocco for the International Championships this Sunday, March 16.

But as today's departure date has approached, there have been just enough complications and missed signals to take the lustre off his first international competition.

His mother hands him the mail. Roy glances over the letter and the itinerary, then passes further judgement on the AAU's ineptitude.

"I can't believe that in the three months between the qualifying race and the Rabat trip, the AAU had to wait this long before letting me know the travel arrangements," he says.

"Do you realize I haven't even been sent a uniform? I asked Bob DeCelle (head of the U.S. delegation) when I could expect one, and he told me they MIGHT be waiting for us when we stop over in New York."

For safety's sake, Roy borrowed a national uniform from a friend in Los Gatos.

In fairness to DeCelle, who directs the AAU's distance running operation from his office in Alameda, it should be pointed out that the man has been facing some monumental problems over the last two months. Such as putting together a team.

At least four runners are needed for an official team. Everything seemed in order until early February, when DeCelle learned that the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF) considers an athlete a 20-year-old, therefore no longer a junior, if his birthday falls anytime during the calendar year in question. Thus, John Roscoe of Southwest Michigan J.C., who will turn 20 in December of 1975, is ineligible to run in Rabat. It's the sort of picayune detail which continues to move the focus of international athletics away from the arena and into the anteroom.

So while DeCelle scoured the list of juniors eligible for the trip, no doubt the niceties of keeping the confirmed travelers informed were left in the "to do" basket.

In the Kissin dining room, Roy's mother serves tea as her international whiz rattles on. This sparring with the AAU is a necessary part of a first-rate athlete's initiation, and her attempts at tempering his slightly overstated bravado suggest that she's happy to play devil's advocate. She's heard all this before.

"Roy, I think you have to remember that the AAU is made up mostly of volunteers," she interjects, adding, "I can always tell when there's a big race coming. The air changes around here."

She mentions that getting the results from Rabat on Sunday could be a problem, though she doesn't expect Roy to finish first.

"Mom, I don't mind your talking about my races, but I'd appreciate it if you didn't share your predictions," he half-scolds.

Then an aside, "As you can see, I tend to pick up coaches along the way."

Mrs. Kissin points out the difference between wishing him well and being realistic, then lets it drop.

Roy reveals a sheet of looseleaf prepared by another of his coaches, distanceman George Stewart of the West Valley Track Club. After the junior nationals, the two devised a detailed workout schedule which has held up well despite interruptions for indoor competition in January and a bout with the flu in early February.

"The workouts have been fantastic," Roy says. "And the schedule is flexible enough to allow for travel problems which might come up between here and Rabat."

A few days later, he reports that Saturday, he and Stewart decided to take a four-mile run over the Crystal Springs course in Belmont, where Roy finished well in National Senior Cross-Country Championships in November.

"I dogged him on the last mile, the uphill," Kissin says of Saturday's training spin. "It felt great. I've never been so keyed up for a race as I have for this one."

Livermore 8th at Chabot swim

The Livermore Aquacowboys finished eighth in a field of 32 teams in the AAU Zone II Swim Meet at Chabot College last weekend.

Livermore posted 24 A times and 11 AA times in splashing to its best showing ever at Zone II. Brenda Wood, 11-12 year-olds, tied a team record with a 32.4 performance in the 50-yard back stroke. Patti Daley set the standard a year ago.

ROY KISSIN TRAINS IN THE HILLS ABOVE HIS DANVILLE HOME. The San Ramon High senior has found the AAU a mystery as he prepares for the March 16 International Cross Country Championships in Rabat, Morocco.

Dons whip track Macks

It may be weeks before Andy Finn stops groping for a rebound at the apex of his jump.

But the Amador Valley High senior devoted enough attention to track yesterday to clear 6-4 in the high jump and highlight the Dons 102-22 thrashing of McClymonds at Pleasanton.

Without a day's practice since ending his prep basketball career at the Tournament of Champions Saturday, Finn tied the school record set by fellow basketball player Ed Costello last season.

"This was just a test for his knee," said Tony Bright. He referred to the tender joint that Finn nursed during the entire basketball season. It was feared the 6-7 center had torn cartilage during the first week of practice.

After a layoff of several weeks he returned to play out the schedule, and then showed no lingering effects in his efforts yesterday.

"His timing was off," said Bright. "and I could see he had to chop his steps. But he cleared the bar by four or five inches."

The 6-4 leap equaled Finn's best jump last season.

It was also the outstanding mark yesterday in a meet resplendent with early-season times and distances.

Mike Mayes and Doug Croteau were double winners for Amador. Mayes captured the 180 low hurdles in 21.6, and the 120 highs in 16.6. The Dons Sid Calija was second in both races.

Croteau won the 100 with the time of 10.5, that he termed, "fair to middlin'." He also won the 220 at 24.0.

McClymonds' received victories by John Littlefield in the 440 in 52.6 and the mile relay team, which kicked home in 3:43.7.

Amador 102, McClymonds 22. 180 low hurdles — Mayes, AV, 21.6 440 relay — Amador (Mayes, O'Brien, Beatty, Croteau) 46.2 Triple jump — Goodison, AV, Herrmann, AV, Helm, AV, 39.8 880 — Pruneau, AV, Watson, Mack, Laird, AV, 2:04.4 100 — Croteau, AV, Wilkey, AV, Stewart, Mack, 10.5 Mile — Dillenburg, AV, McGinnis, AV, Mullins, Mack, 5:06.4 440 — Littlefield, Mack, Watson, Mack, O'Brien, AV, 52.6 120 high hurdles — Mayes, AV, Calija, AV, Cox, AV, 16.6 220 — Croteau, AV, Stewart, Mack, Butler, Mack, 24.0 Shot put — Bynum, AV, Schell, AV, Garcia, AV, 44-1 High jump — Finn, AV, Turner, AV, Costello, AV, 6-4 Long jump — Haas, AV, Goodison, AV, Herrmann, AV, 20-6 Pole Vault —

O'Brien asked to skip it

A Pleasanton father is in the third month of battle with the school district over his son's premature departure from the Amador Valley High basketball team.

Ray O'Brien, whose son Pat left the Dons early in the pre-season, seeks public apology from coach Skip Mohatt over the incident.

O'Brien has carried his plea to the school district, and to superintendent Bruce Newlin. He claims that Mohatt forced Pat to quit following a series of incidents at the start of basketball season.

Mohatt said he will not comment on the issue. Dr. Newlin issued a two-page letter Feb. 27 defending the Amador coach, and asking the elder O'Brien to drop the issue.

According to O'Brien, his son was confronted with two alternatives by Mohatt — either leave the squad, or adhere to a list of terms that O'Brien said would leave him and his son, "incommunicado."

According to Dr. Newlin's letter, Mohatt merely addressed Pat to conditions set down in the Dons' player handbook.

In any event, young O'Brien quit the team following a non-league game at Liberty High School.

According to his father, a number of events led up to his son's confrontation with Mohatt.

First, O'Brien said his son was pressured to not play for the Amador football team. He is a two-time All-EBAL player.

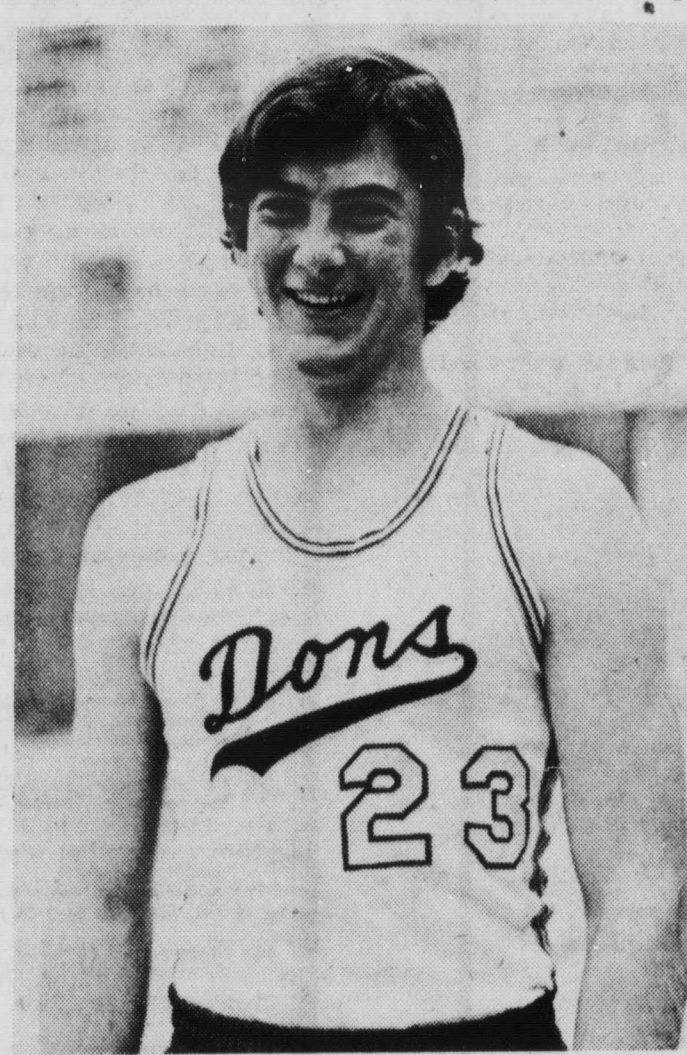

Second, the night prior to the Liberty game, a college scout contacted Pat, and Mohatt, during warmup for a game with St. Joseph's.

Finally, at halftime of the Liberty game, O'Brien said his son was reprimanded for speaking out while Mohatt addressed the team. According to O'Brien, Pat was trying to accept blame for another player's mistake.

THE LIVERMORE - PLEASANTON Rod and Gun Club is the place to be on March 16 if you would like to try your skill on the running deer moving target. You can also shoot at the iron chickens at 200 yards; the off-hand rifle; and the tough game of Bench Rest. Bring your shooting buddy, and plenty of ammo. Practice starts at 9 a.m. and competition begins at 10.

BILL KUSICH likes to fish at Frank's Tract, but hasn't had his usual good luck lately. If you know where the fish are hiding up there, let Bill in on the secret! He's almost ready to go out and get one of those fish-finding gadgets.

ABALONE FISHING season will start Sunday, March 16. Existing rules apply to abalone, and some of the rules should be reviewed.

Limits are five per day, five in possession, except on multi-day trips where up to three daily limits may be in possession.

Fishing hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Abalone may be taken only by hand or by devices commonly known as abalone irons, which must be less than 36 inches long, straight or with a curve having a radius of not less than 18 inches, at least ¾ inch wide and 1/16 inch thick. Edges must be rounded.

The DFG recommends that the curve of an iron be checked by drawing a curve or an arc on a piece of paper approximately the length of the iron with pencil, chalk or crayon tied to a piece of string, holding the string 18 inches from the point of the marking device.

When the sharpest bend of the abalone iron is placed on the paper, no part of the iron should fall within the curve. If it does, the iron is illegal.

Irons may be flattened with a hammer to the desired curve, and a file or grinding wheel may be used to remove sharp edges, the DFG said.

Minimum sizes, measured at the greatest shell diameter, are seven inches for reds; six inches for greens, pinks and whites; five inches for blacks, and four inches for all others.

Red abalone are most common in northern California, and greens and pinks are most frequently taken by southern California sportsmen.

Abalone fishermen are required to carry a device which is capable of accurately measuring size.

Other rules require that the abalone must be brought ashore in a condition such that size can be determined, and that abalone not retained must be replaced immediately, with the shell outward, to the surface of the rock from which they were detached.

The season will run through January 14, 1976. So you will have a chance to go out and get your own abalone, and enjoy this delicacy which is so popular with seafood restaurants.

WHAT DOES A LADY, a small boy, an accountant, a deep-sea fisherman, and a dune-buggy driver have in common? A love of outdoor sports, that's what.

Eva Schmitz, a fine accountant, and her young grandson enjoy all these sports together. At least, Eva usually enjoys them. But the other day when she took her grandson on a long-awaited salmon fishing expedition on a small boat, it was almost a disaster.

Eva went to the hold to have something to eat, but the combination of tobacco smoke and diesel fumes proved too much, and she spent the rest of the day being miserably seasick.

Since she was the only woman aboard, the men presented her with a 24-inch salmon (chivalry is not dead). So it turned out well for Eva and grandson, though she says she is not ready to go again for a while.

She was game to take a ride, and finally drive, her son-in-law's dune buggy, though. As she was relaxing along the highway, she saw a shadow of something big approaching, and looked up to see a house moving alongside, almost over her vehicle.

Sure enough, it was a house, and too close for comfort. So Eva became a little nervous about the dune buggy. But I'm sure she'll be out there again, fishing and driving, or whatever, because she enjoys the challenge and fun of the great outdoors. Good luck, Eva!

For Wednesday, March 12,

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll awaken interest regarding your plans if you're a bit mysterious about them. Reveal just enough to whet others' appetites.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something you're presently hoping for will be delayed through no fault of your own. The delay is temporary and will be rectified.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't stand in another's shadow today or the credit you should receive for an achievement will be stolen by the grandstander. Speak up.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) An embarrassing situation can be avoided if you don't pretend to know about something you don't know of.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be very careful with anything material belonging to another. Don't lend without the owner's consent what was entrusted to you.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An agreement with another will be broken unless you're both very fair regarding its terms. Compromise is called for.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't allow minor setbacks careerwise to upset you. They will be overcome shortly by more fortunate circumstances. Just hang in there.

Pleasanton building blossoms

PLEASANTON — This city experienced something of a home building boom, or maybe it was a boomlet, during the month of February. The 21 new home starts marked the highest one-month total since September of 1973.

February's residential activity was also more than double the entire picture for all of 1974, the year of the big "sewer freeze." It is because that freeze has thawed just slightly, with a modest amount of new capacity being added to the VCSO treatment center and an even tighter tolerance at the city's Sunol Boulevard plant, that 1975 could bring modest but persistent construction activity throughout the Amador Valley.

Two categories that have never let up, and maintained that level in February, are backyard swimming pools and the alteration or addition to existing structures. There were five pool permits issued in February, bringing that 1975 total to 12, and 18 alteration-addition permits, making that two-month total 27.

Still absent from the city scene is any renewal of construction in the multiple category, private or commercial. Also virtually defunct is any activity in the industrial or commercial development areas.

Persistent but clumsy

Bumbling burglar breaks in, gets nothing in three tries

DUBLIN — A selective-but-clumsy burglar broke into three downtown businesses late Sunday night or early Monday morning and tried to gain entry to a fourth.

While nothing was taken, extensive damage was incurred by the Refectory Restaurant, Public Finance Corporation, Operating Engineers Local 3 Credit Union, and Andre's School of Dance in the 6990 block of Dublin Boulevard.

According to Bob Gattis, manager of the Refectory, the burglar pried open a side door to the restaurant before tracking mud across the rug and breaking into the office.

Frustration must have mounted as the thief chiseled away at the office safe, breaking off the combination dial and the door handle.

Surrounded by wine, liquor, and fresh meat, the burglar passed up for a $10 roll of postage stamps, but caused in estimated $300 in damage.

T. M. Bowen of Public Finance pointed to a rest room window the thief knocked out, knocking plaster and wood to the floor, and the mud-stained footprints across the carpet.

While fresh scratch marks were noted on the office safe, nothing was taken.

Bars on the restroom door prevented entry to the Operating Engineers Credit Union offices, but the persistent-if-clumsy burglar ripped away at the wall with a pry bar.

Spokesmen for Andre's School of Dance were not available for comment.

200 mile bike ride March 25

The Pleasanton Recreation Department is sponsoring its annual 200 mile bike ride to Yosemite National Park during the Easter vacation, March 25 through March 29.

High school age bicyclists who are able to ride an average of 65 miles per day for three days are encouraged to go on the excursion which includes overnight camping at Lake Turlock, Mariposa and Yosemite.

Riders will spend three days and two nights in Yosemite National Park, camping, hiking, sightseeing and fishing. Return trip will be by mini-buses.

Interested persons should pick up their information flyer and permission slip at the Recreation Office, 200 Bernal or the library on Black Avenue as soon as possible. The number of participants will be limited.

Burglars use axe to enter course

PLEASANTON — Police may have come close to catching a burglar who axed his way into the Pleasanton Fairway Golf Course late Saturday night.

According to police reports, the burglar either axed or kicked his way through a plywood wall to gain entry to a storage room.

Two money sacks containing $300 were taken from the pro-shop office, but the thief inadvertently tripped an alarm when attempting to loot the cash register.

Police responding to the alarm were forced to wait for owner Ron O. Curtola at the locked gate.

Meanwhile, police are alerting merchants to the theft of 100 50 cent-pieces and an extensive coin collection stolen last Thursday from a Pleasanton residence.

Coins in the collection range from 10 cent-pieces to silver dollars, and police believe the culprit may use the coins in local purchases.

Merchants are being asked to report any transactions involving large quantities of coin.

Empty keg is burglars reward

LIVERMORE — Some people will do anything for a drink.

Police are wondering if two similar thefts Wednesday morning are perhaps related, or if someone in the city has a mean thirst.

Albert R. Bernard, a 42-year-old beer delivery driver, told police he stopped in at the Country Market, 1763 Chestnut St., shortly before 10 a.m. to make a delivery, and when he emerged from the store two juveniles were running down the street, one carrying two cases of beer. Bernard gave an unsuccessful chase and the beer crashed to the cold concrete.

Within 90 minutes, Mike J. Nagy was reporting the theft of a 15.5 gallon keg of beer — alas, an empty one.

Nagy, 24, said he noted the missing keg after making three Livermore deliveries.

Police are seeking some very thirsty, frustrated thieves.

Stirring Words

It is possible that the philosophical expression which was uttered by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympic Games — "The main issue in life is not victory but the fight, the essential is not to have won but to have fought well" — may have done much to encourage the development of sportsmanship awards in athletics.

Arabian Guard leads parade

The Arabian Costume Color Guard will lead off the Mar. 15, Dublin Festival Parade.

The beautifully costumed Guard is sponsored by the Arabian Horse Association of Northern California, the only Arabian association parading a color guard throughout the state.

Riders Karen and Rhonda Steward, Jan Hotz, Jonie Davis, Holly Wesley and Barbara McGinnis will mount their horses in costumes designed and donated by Yvonna Ranger of Jim-Yvs Stables of Alamo.

Since their formation last September, the color guard has taken first place honors in two San Francisco fetes, the Colombus and Veterans Days parades, Sonoma Vintage, San Jose Children's Christmas, Sunnyvale Christmas and Riverbank parades, and a second place at the Walnut Festival.

Additionally, their colors were presented at the Cow

Palace Grand Nationals on Oct. 25.

The Guard will join radio station KNBR's Mike Cleary, honorary Mayor of Dublin during the festivities, Carol Doda, Bay Area landmark, and nearly 300 paraders for the Saturday afternoon event.

Live time coming

Sure and there'll be a live time in the old town come Saturday night when, following the Dublin parade, we'll all fill up with blarney at the Irish Fest.

Washington's Bible

The famous Bible on which George Washington took the oath of office as the first president of the United States is now owned by a Masonic lodge in New York City. It has a frontispiece portrait of King George II of Great Britain.

Or maybe pass out a bit of the blarney.

"Gead mile failte," as they say in the old country, or a hundred-thousand welcomes.

Billed as the "greatest Irish party," the festivities, sponsored by the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society, get under way with a 5:30 p.m. Happy Hour.

Sure and we'll all be feeling the happy after some Irish Coffee and a bit 'o the Harps, or, for the brave, some 'alf and 'alf.

And for a mere $6.50 (children under 12 $2) we'll follow it up with a corned beef dinner the likes of which they haven't seen in Eire since St. Patty drove the snakes through the emerald green grass to the sea.

And with wine and dessert, too, we'll have you know!

But don't leave the wee-ones home, folks. Not on your life.

They'll have a grand time with continuous, "G" rated entertainment from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. — you can slip 'em home to sleep if the hour gets too late.

We'll have Irish pipers, and Irish dancers, and Irish singers and paint the Valley — green, of course. — to the tunes of the Green Isle dance band.

And if that weren't enough, we've planned a green beer drinking fete — but you'll hold your own head.

We'll be wearin' the green at the Alameda County Fairgrounds, tappin' for our prizes, all the while benefiting old St. Raymond's Church.

We're out to restore it, don't you know!

You can get your reservations from Mrs. O'Piazza. Call her at 828-1577, or write at 7613 Peppertree Rd., Dublin, of course.

But hurry! Tickets are limited.

If should you be wantin' to tuck the leprechauns away early, maybe catchin' a bite at home, you can join us after 9:30 for $3.50.

But you'll be makin' your own corned beef. Passable, perhaps, but fine sight short of ours.

CONCOURS d'ELEGANCE

This 1937 Bugatti DB-3 will appear at the March 15 Concourse d'Elegance at Shannon Hall. Fifty entrants will appear in the event, competing for trophies and wine. Refreshments will be sold at the hall.

DUBLIN FESTIVAL PARADE ROUTE

Marching through Eire

If you love a parade, and horses, and clowns, and cowboys and Carol Doda, you're going to adore Saturday, Mar. 15.

Arabian horses, antique cars, Dublin Maid contestants, motorcycles — it boggles the mind.

This year's parade route is mapped above, with the noon event starting at the Foremost Research Center on Dublin Boulevard, then heading down Village Parkway to Amador Valley Boulevard, then up to the Shamrock Shopping Center.

Entrants will march past a reviewing stand jammed with local luminaries at Starwood

Drive and Amador Valley Boulevard.

And those lovely maids!

According to parade chairman Henry Lopez, the 12 contestants and 1974 Maid of Dublin Donna Juison will enter the fete on Porsche 914-6 chariots.

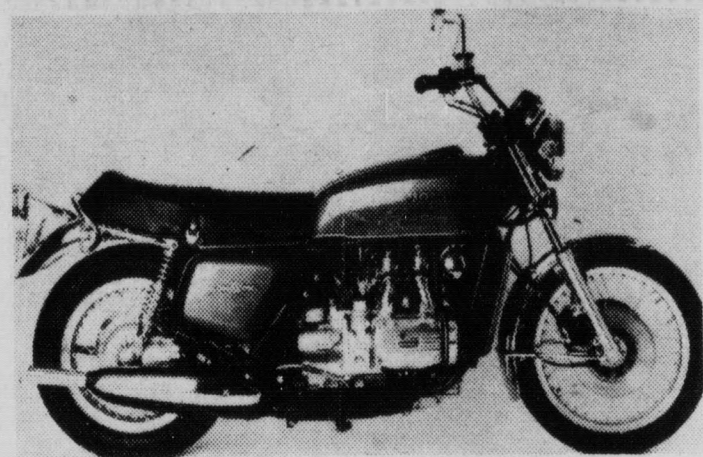

Carol Doda will be carried from the Concours d'Elegance to the parade in a 1932 Mercedes-Benz convertible.

Nearly 300 marchers will trek the tobies of Dublin, including troops of Girl Scouts, marching bands, the infamous "Black Bart Gang" from the Dublin Jaycees, the Shriners' Motorcycle Drill Team, and the Arabian Costume Color Guard of the Arabian Horse Association of Northern California.

Should the green of Eire get into your blood, you'll be welcome at the evening's Irish Fest set in the Alameda County Fairgrounds.

An Irish Coffee — and other necessary toddies — Happy Hour kick off the festivities at 5:30 p.m., followed by a corned beef dinner from 6-8:30 p.m.

HONDA GL-1000

Six new exciting 1975 Honda models will be arriving soon at the Sportscycle Corral, the GL-1000, CB-750F, CB-550F, the Sammy Miller-inspired TL-250, the two-stroke enduro MR-175, and the CR-250M1. These models, along with those already released, top off the finest, most exciting line in Honda history, according to owner Pete Giordanengo. Sportscycle, which offers a complete machine shop and paint room, "services what it sells," according to Pete, and carries the complete line of Honda cycles.

The first known system for delivering water to cities was built by the Phoenicians. The Greeks copied the system of digging tunnels to bring water

Cinderella at the ball

Cinderella never had it so good.

Or so might be the thoughts expressed next Friday night at the Coronation Ball when 1974 Maid of Dublin Donna Julson give up her crown.

Twelve hopeful contestants will vie for the honor of Maid of Dublin, being judged on face, figure, personality and poise at the Ball, while KNBR's Mike Cleary emcees the gala affair.

The activity starts with a 6:30 p.m., cocktail hour at Castlewood Country Club, followed by a 7:30 dinner. Tickets may be purchased from Lillian Willhalm at Don's Casuals.

The 1975 Maid will reign over luncheons, grand openings, and civic affairs, always properly chaperoned by her Queen Mother.

QUEEN MOTHER

This year's honor falls to Sharon Moore Edgecomb, who'll accompany the Dublin Maid on her rounds, replacing 1974 Queen Mother Barbara Berg.

As charter members of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, Sharon and her husband, Bob, are sponsors of the Dublin Auto Supply "Pistons," a local Little League Team.

The parents of three children, Linda, 6, Kelly, 5, and David, 3, they reside in San Ramon.

Sharon was first introduced to the Maid of Dublin Pageant as a member of the Confederated Women's Club of Dublin, and has served as maid contestant advisor on four occasions, in addition to serving on numerous committees for previous festivals.

Mixing homemaking, community time, and religious activity is no small task, but Sharon is a Room Mother and Art Partner at Country Club School, where her students have taken to painting the school.

Sharon's class is in the process of painting a "Ships and the Ocean" mural on their assigned wall.

Last spring she and Debra Van Fleet organized Grass Roots Originals Boutique Bazaar as a church fund raiser.

When the food shortage at the grocery store was a scare, Sharon organized a food budget contest, and with cooperation from local newspapers, got local stores to donate cash certificates to the winners.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

On all federal, state and private forest and nonforested watershed lands during 1973, a total of 117,957 fires were reported. The World Almanac notes, totaling 1,915,273 acres devastated by fire. Through carelessness or incendiarism, man is blamed for the largest portion of wildfires. During 1973 some 81,493, or 89 per cent of the 91,683 fires reported as having burned on protected land were man-caused.

Born in Oakland and raised in San Leandro, Sharon has attended local college and worked a variety of jobs from sweeping floors in the college bookstore to shoveling asphalt, pumping gas, and renting cars at Oakland International Airport.

After their marriage in 1967, Sharon went to work as a secretary for the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. The Edgecombs moved from Livermore to Dublin in 1969, and to San Ramon in 1972.

An artist at heart, Sharon has made many home decorations. She was quite taken back when Bill Owens, author of "Suburbia," complimented her on one of her many paintings, referring to it as "primitive."

Never having considered her work "primitive," she now points to it with pride, asking rhetorically, "Do you like my primitive?"

An avid writer, her book of children's stories will be released this winter.

"My greatest pleasure is as wife and mother, and together trying to make our home a bit of heaven on earth."

Hamburgers, Lori Peilstick, 18, Steve Rubiolo Photography, Sharon Stewart, 18, Valley Bank, Brenda Sylva, 16, Amador Plumbing, and Monica Williams, 17, A Separate Affair.

1974 DUBLIN MAID DONNA JULSON

Dublin's latest

Brian O'Hagan's six years in the motorcycle business make him highly qualified to own and operate one of Dublin's newest businesses, Dublin Yamaha.

Brian opened his 6390 Scarlet Ct. shop last Dec. 1, and doesn't limit himself to Yamaha's. His assorted line of bikes includes the Austrian - engined, U. S. made Penton motorcross bike, Buftaco, and Norton-Triumph lines.

The new shop features complete repairs on all makes and models, with special facilities for heli-arc welding.

Retains Enclaves

Although Spain has ceded the 579-square-mile territory of Ifni to Morocco, it retains two enclaves in that country—Ceuta, a fortified city facing Gibraltar, and Melilla, an export center.
